1. The editorship of the Peruvian newsmagazine 1949 has been taken over by Maria Roque de Carnero Checa during the absence of her husband, Genaro Carnero Checa.
2. At the termination of the Spanish Civil War, Maria Roque de Carnero, a Catalan, fled from Spain, where she had been a militant member of the Communist Party. She made the acquaintance of her husband in Mexico, where they were married prior to his return to Peru in October 1946.
3. It is generally agreed that the magazine has taken a sharp turn to the left under its new temporary director, particularly in the field of international affairs where its anti-United States, pro-Soviet position is now clear.

Comment. The expulsion from Peru of Genaro Carnero Checa was reported
